Wilson Seeks Reelection To National Board Of NAACP

Developing programs of effective management, a rededication to promoting civil rights and affirmative action issues and the launching of a nationwide membership drive are three issues which form the platform of NAACP Board Chairman Margaret Bush Wilson in the upcoming NAACP national election.

Mrs. Wilson, NAACP Board Chairman since 1976, is seeking re-election to one of the eight at-large seats on the National Board. The election occurs between November 15 and December 31, 1983 in each of the 1700 branches of the NAACP nationwide. Members of good standing are eligible to vote.

Mrs. Wilson has actively served the NAACP more than 30 years, beginning with her election to the executive committee of the organization's St. Louis branch in 1956. She has served on the national board since 1963, following the lead of her parents. In 1974, she received the National Board's Distinquished Service Award.

Vincent & Rosemarie Harding Bring History To Seattle

Looking to the past to create a future, that is history's challenge that Rosemarie Freeny-Harding and Vincent Harding, author, civil rights activists/organizers and spiritual leaders will bring to Seattle in an informative and inspirational weekend of workshops, discussions and cultural celebration.

To Black preachers and teachers, the Hardings will speak on the role of the church in the education and liberation of African-Americans, Friday December 2nd at 7:30 pm at Mt. Zion Baptist Church, 1634 19th Avenue with workshops on Saturday, December 3rd, at 10:00 am at the University of Washington's Ethnic Cultural Center on campus. Events free to the public, all are invited to attend.

A Rumbling Underground: Saturday night at 8:00 at Pigott Auditorium on Seattle University's campus, a night of historical reflections, a call for critical black leadership, and a theatrical tribute to the legacy of Black leadership in America. Presentations by Vincent and Rosemarie Harding and dramatic presentation by The Friend of Friends Theatre Ensemble and The Total Experience Choir. Donations are requested, Child-care provided by Gentle Dragon.

The Hardings have been in the human liberation movement since the struggles of the sixties.

Mr. Harding was instrumental in the creation of Martin Luther King Jr.'s Beyond Vietnam speech, which is said to be one of his most controversial speeches. The Hardings have moved on to more in depth study and practices in creating a new humane society. In their writings the focus has been on the transformative power of the African-American experience in the creation of a more humane society.

The Magic Of Storytelling

Tacoma Actors Guild will present "The Magic of Storytelling," three enchanting Saturday morning holiday performances for children and adults, on Dec. 10, 17 and 24. Each performance will be at 10 am and will showcase the craft of the ancient art of storytelling. Program themes will range from traditional folk tales, collected from cultures around the world, to stories that celebrate the holiday season.

Her storytelling and poetry readings have been broadcast on Seattle radio stations KUOW and KRAB, and KPLU in Tacoma. Michael Mead, also a storyteller and talented musician, will accompany the performance with traditional folk music.

In addition to her public performances, Hecht has worked extensively in the Poet-In-The-Schools program and more recently as a storyteller in Idaho and Washington state. Eastern European and Yiddish folk tales, and stories of the sea Hecht celebrates folklore and literature, poetry and drama through the ancient art of storytelling.

Cathy Spagnoli, (photographed above) will complete the series on Dec. 24 with stories that capture the holiday season. Sculpting her images through storytelling, Spagnoli has performed at Seattle Central Community College, the Museum of History and Industry, Seattle public schools and libraries, and Lesley College in Boston and Kerla University in India. Spagnoli has traveled around the world collecting tales from Europe, Asia, and Africa, taking American folk tales to these countries and bringing back their culture to this country.

Spagnoli recently received a grant from the Washington Commission for the Humanities to collect and perform stories from the peoples of Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam, living in this area.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling the Tacoma Actors Guild Box Office at 272-2145.

Job Training

President Reagan has signed legislation appropriating $75 million in support of a job training program to aid unemployed Vietnam Era and Korean Conflict veterans.

"This is a major undertaking and it underscores the nation's special commitment to those who have served in the military," Administrator of Veterans Affairs Harry N. Walters said.

To be eligible for participation in the program, a veteran must have been unemployed for at least 15 of the 20 weeks immediately preceding the date of his or her application. Eligible veterans will be furnished a certificate of eligibility by the VA to be presented to an employer offering a job training program that meets specified requirements. This certificate will be good for a period of 60 days and may be renewed. Applications may be obtained from any VA regional office or local State Employment Job Service office.

THE EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE

The Evergreen State College has been selected as the top regional arts college in the west and midwest according to a survey of more than 1300 college and university presidents reported in the November 28 issue of U.S. News and World Report.

The national magazine, which asked four-year college presidents to name the country's highest quality undergraduate schools, also listed Evergreen as one of the top three regional arts colleges in the nation.

Evergreen was also the only public college to head one of the nine categories determined by U.S. News and World Report.

Hooks Congratulates Groger Co.

NEW YORK -- NAACP Executive Director Benjamin L. Hooks congratulated The Kroger Co. for electing Otis M. Smith to the company's board of directors. In a letter to Lyle Everingham, chairman and chief executive officer of Kroger, Mr. Hooks noted Mr. Smith's extensive experience as a vice president and former general counsel of General Motors Corporation as well as his "progressive point of view on social issues."

Mr. Hooks expressed hope that Kroger will utilize Mr. Smith's broad business and civic experiences to expand new opportunities within the company. Kroger is the nation's second largest food retailer, having more than 1,450 food stores and 570 drug stores in 32 states.

Last July, at the NAACP annual convention in New Orleans, Mr. Hooks signed a multi-million dollar Fair Share agreement with Kroger. The company agreed to specific goals for employing blacks in store and executive management ranks.

The agreement also established goals for purchasing from minority-owned firms, philantrophic contributions and in other service areas.

HAVE YOU BELIEVED OUR REPORT
SERIES # 33
ISAIAH 53: 1 & 2

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him a tender plant, and as a root out of dry ground.

He hath no form nor comiliness: and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

WORDS OF WISDOM

PSALMS 146:1-10

PRAISE ye the Lord, Praise the Lord,O my soul.

While I live will I praise the Lord; I will sing praises unto my God while I have any being.

Put not your trust in princes, nor in the son of man, in whom there is no help.

His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish.

Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is the Lord his God:

Which made heaven, and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth truth for ever:

Which executeth judgment for the oppressed: which giveth food to the hungry. The Lord loseth the prisoners:

The Lord openeth the eyes of the Blind: the Lord raiseth them that are bowed down: the Lord loveth the righteous:

The Lord preserveth the strangers; he relieveth the fatherless and widow: but the way of the wicked he turneth upside down.

The Lord shall reign for ever, even thy God, O Zion, unto all generations. Praise ye the Lord.

Christmas Exhibits Open

On December 1, 1983, the 32nd annual "Christmas Around the World" exhibit opens at Seattle's Museum of History and Industry. Featuring a dozen Christmas trees decorated according to customs of various nations, the colorful display is a Seattle holiday fixture. This year, in addition to the trees, the Museum is filled with toys, dolls, and magnificant Paisley shawl from the 19th century.

Countries and cultures represented by the trees include China, Latvia, the Phillippines, England, Eastonia, Hungary, Germany, Poland, Russia, Sweden, and the Ukraine A special United States tree will stand in the entrance hall, and will be decorated according to traditional American ornamentation.

The Museum is open Monday through Saturday, 10-5, and from noon-5 on Sundays. Admission is $1.00 for adults, .50 for children and senior citizens. The Museum is also selling tickets for its weekend music and dance Christmas performances. To order tickets, call the Museum at 324-1126.

Scandinavian Christmas Honoring Lucia Bride

The 36th annual Scandinavian Christmas honoring Lucia Bride at Pacific Lutheran University will feature the singing of Christmas carols, folk dancing, and the reading of the Legend of Lucia and the Biblical Christmas story.

It will be held Friday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. in Eastvold Auditorium on the PLU campus. The campus chapter of Spurs, a national sophomore women's service organization, sponsors the event.

During the ceremonies, a seven-candle crown, symbolizing seven virtures, is placed on the head of the Lucia Bride, the girl selected by the students to resign over the festival.

Tickets to the Sandinavian Christmas are $2 for students, senior citizens and children under ten; $2.50 for adults. They are available at the PLU Information Desk and at the door on Dec. 2.

Why Convicts Are Held Over Release Date

The question as to Why There Are So Many Convicts Held Over Their Release Dates?

And what can be done to justify, the end is two-fold. Administrative ineptness is sometime the cause. Individual disenchantment is sometime the effect. To give up is to die; (or wallow in one's own misery). No matter how unpleasant the situation seems to be, one must continue to strive for his just dues.

We are dealing with a force. An uncarring group of so called knowledgable and respectable public servants whose ideology stem from the days of King hear. Fair plays, DVC Process and personal libewrties be Damm. Why does this continue to Happen? The public's unawareness, the courts disregard for proper legal process and the sad but true fact that the institutions have a green light to handle their problems and situations as they seem fit, just as long as it doesn't cause wide-spread controversy. The prisons are over-crowded and will continue to remain over-crowded; only because the powers that be are not concerned with that particular problem itself. We are dealing with an industry, such as, fold, IBM etc, and each individual is a catalyst for the state coffers. The problem we must deal with is community involvment in placing ex-felons in various work programs, schools, and most important, housing.

The quickest way to be denied a parole plan is not being able to obtain a structured residence. If the Administrators see a person is elgible for parole, but at the same time sees that the individual is unable to provide a place in which to reside, then they will immediately "cut him off". I personally believe that communties and their respective leaders should go out of there way to provide a reasonable and cohesive re-entry to any ex-felon whom has applies for assistance and who is willing to make a position for himself in life. Otherwise, we will continue to remain held up in this situation.

Tony Brown's Comments

Will Blacks Separate From America?

"The Black American Council is hereby authorized to negotiate with the United States of America for the creation of a separate and independent state, within the continental limits of the United States, for American citizens of African descent."

That quote comes from The Negotiations, a book White publishing firms would never touch. And it's written by a self-assured Black man, something else White publishers avoid like the plague.

Against these racist odds, Herman Gilbert has given us a new book that seems at times more of a prophetic road map than a work of fiction.

"The year is 1987. Black Americans, devastated by policies initiated in the Reagan Administration, isolated through polarization of the races, angered because of continual denial of a fair share of power, have approved a referendum to separate from the United State." That's Path Press' summary of The Negotiations.

However, present day reality gives us an even deeper insight into Gilbert's action-charged, yet sensitive, novel. The frustrations of a conservative era and the seeming inability to close the economic gap with Whites are real. Can an ultimate break in faith with the American dream for the nation's 30 million citizens of African descent become a reality?

Harold Washington's victory as the first Blacy mayor of Chicago precipitated a new interest in politics with dimensions probably not consciously perceived by most people. Not too inconceivably, if Blacks are really let down after the 1984 presidential outcome--as I suspect they will be--a separatist movement not only can gain a foothold, but, if history repeats itself, probably will.

History is now repeating itself and we now confront a new assault on the system--this time with ballots instead of riots. But what will the outcome of this new nationalist sentiment be? What direction will it take after the heightened political expectations of the present have been tempered by the racist realities of this society and the dog-eat-dog nature of the Black community and its leaders?

Herman Gilbert's answer to a similar set of circumstances is a powerful and imaginative treatment of the subject and projects possibilities that are indeed novel. The Negotiations pits the philosophies and wills (all of the Black hang-ups hang out) of seven major combatants (you will recognize all of them).

The prime members of the Black American Council, five men and a woman, locked into philosophical differences, all agree on a separate state. Black multi-millionaire James P. Sneed, a believer of the "American way," is violently opposed to the idea. The players run the gamut of the Urban League, NAACP, SCLC, Congressional Black Caucus, a White labor leader and, or course, the Black nationalist.

Then there is President Dorsey Talbott Davidson, successor to Ronald Reagan, whose credo is embodied in these words: "If Lincoln was willing to abide the evil of slavery to preserve the Union, then definitely I am willing to abide the lesser evil of inequality for a minority of our citizens to preserve it."

Gilbert sees his plot linked to reality because "the type of victories (political) we have been winning are victories more of appearances thanthey are of real substance. I believe that Blacks will have to start making extraordinary demands, novel demands, and startling demands on White America if we are to move into an era of equality and parity with White America, " he told me on an upcoming television program.

If we are to continue to get fresh new ideas in books, we had also better commit outselves to another "extraordinary" action: buying books from Black-owned publishing companies like Path. You can start by placing Path's address and phone number in a safe place (Path Press, 53 West Jackson Blvd., Suite 1040, Chicago, IL 60604, 312/663-0167).

DIET FACTS & FALLACIES

GIVE YOUR CHILD THE GIFT OF GOOD HEALTH

Are you using nutritionally sound judgment in helping your child develop good eating habits? Current research indicates that you, as a parent, may have the greatest influence over whether your child becomes overweight. Those eating preferences and habits, which your child learns from you, will carry into his adulthood.

Realize that what your child may eat will depend upon his size and his tendency to gain weight. You can help control between-meal snacks by providing milk, juices and fresh fruits instead of sweets. Make meals a special time where the whole family can sit down, relax and share the day's events. Allow eating only at the table, not in front of the television!

How Many Are Poor?

TO BE EQUAL

John Jacobs

There's nothing like good news, even if it's not true The good news now coming out of Washington is that poverty is not as serious a problem as most people seem to think it is.

The bearer of good news is David Stockman, director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Thirty-five million poor people? Not according to Stockman. He says the real figure is only 20 million, as if such a huge number of deprived people can be described with the word "only."

It seems OMB has made 15 million people -- the difference between Census Bureau estimates of the poor and OMB's rosier estimates -- disappear from the ranks of the poor.

OMB does it by statistical juggling. It says that if you add in-kind government benefits to the incomes of the poor, many are no longer poor. That sounds fairly reasonable until you examine it. Here's how OMB's fiddling with the numbers goes.

First, there is federally subsidized housing. If you take the market rental value of a subsidized housing unit, subtract the actual rent a poor persons pays and attribute the difference to his or her income, many of the poor would now have incomes above the poverty line.

Here's another example -- Medicaid. If you add the value of federally-paid medical care, the same things happens. The imputed income plus actual dollar income of the poor person lifts him or her out of poverty.

But wait a minute. Let's assume a poor person has no earnings for the year. Let's also assume that person has major surgery and a long nursing home stay, all paid for by the government, and costing $50,000.

Mr. Stockman and his statistics crunchers at OMB would say that person has an income of $50,000 for the year and is no longer poor -- in fact, that person should now be counted among the most affluent of our citizens.

That may make sense in Washington, but common sense tells us that person is still poor. He still doesn't have a dime to call his own, still has no cash income, and still is poor by any reasonable way of looking at his situation.

So OMB's little exercise has no validity in the real world, where 35 million are still deprived despite the efforts of officials to define them out of poverty. So there goes the good news -- gone with the first fresh breeze of realism.

But the Stockman report is troubling for several reasons. First, it indicates our national policy-makers are more interested in playing a numbers game than they are with really dealing with the problems of growing poverty.

Second, it reveals a mind-set that is quick to point out the subsidies given the poor while never mentioning those given the better-off. After all, if we should impute public housing subsidies to poor people receiving them why not also impute federal mortgage interest subsidies to homeowners. Such subsidies are many times the housing subsidies to the poor.

Finally, we ought to face up to the fact that the so-called "poverty line" does not define poverty -- it defines the poorest of the poor; it is a line that separates abject poverty from simple poverty.

Defining poverty is better achieved by using the Labor Department's budget for a "lower living standard." That's a no-frills estimate of what it takes to keep a family going at absolutely minimal living standards.

Swap The Cubans

Dear Editor:

For the first time since Castro took over Cuba we have a diplomatic chance to use our powerful leverage. Let's take a bipartisan approach to the following by offering to swap the Cuban "workers" (where did they get the guns to fight?).

We should offer to swap them along the following lines:

1. Return all hijackers of U.S. planes Cuba. This would lessen the desire to gain "freedom" there while endangering American lives.
2. Remove all Cuban soldiers from Nicaragua, El Salvador, and other Central American countries.
3. Take back the Cuban criminals (I'm told these are the worst in the world), and mental patients shipped to the U.S. during the last major Cuba-Miami boat lift.
4. Remove all Cuban troops and support personnel from Angola and other countries where they are spreading communism when people all over the world want freedom - (Poland).
5. Dismantle all offensive missiles.

Of course, Castro has told his soldiers to fight to their deaths to protect Grenada while he is surrounded by 20,000 soldiers, missiles, tanks, and thousands of cigars. Smoking one at a time while he spreads the venom of communism wherever Russia tells him to go.

Reagan is the first President since Eisen hower to have the guts to do what's right to protect Americans (men, women, children, and many medical students) in a foreign land - Grenada. Thank God for President Ronald Reagan.

I'm just sorry that Senator Percy is Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. I think my 13 year old son, Jeff, knows more about foreign affairs than Chuck does. In fact, Percy scares me to death, although he seems like a gentle, kind man. Congressman Tom Corcoran wouldn't be like Percy. He's got common sense like most of us. Hopefully, he will replace Percy in the Illinois Primary next year.

Sincerely,
John T. Kimbell

Cranberry Parfaits Dessert

Cranberry Dessert Parfaits will brighten up any holiday meal. They feature rich vanilla pudding layered with sweetened, whole cranberries. The look is spectacular served in glass dishes and the preparation couldn't be easier.

CRANBERRY DESSERT PARFAITS

- 1/3 c. sugar
- 2 T. water
- 1 c. fresh, whole cranberries
- ½ t. grated orange rind
- 1 (3-3½ oz.) package instant vanilla pudding mix
- 1 c. cold milk
- 1 c. dairy sour cream
- 1/8 t. mace

Bring water and sugar to a boil in small saucepan. Add cranberries and half (¼ teaspoon) the orange rind. Simmer 3 minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Combine pudding mix and milk in a deep, narrow bowl. Beat slowly until well blended, about 2 minutes. Beat in sour cream, remaining orange rind and mace. Layer cranberries and pudding in four glass parfait glasses, wine glasses or glass bowls. Top each with an additional dollop of sour cream, if desired.

PSALMS 91, 92:1-2

HE that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

Thous shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day;

Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation;

There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

Tacoma Arts Commission and Tacoma Actors Guild present

The Magic of Storytelling

Three Saturday morning performances for children and parents
10 a.m. December 10, 17, and 24, 1983
at TACOMA ACTORS GUILD
1323 South Yakima Avenue

Don't miss a single performance! Let yourself be drawn into the web of enchantment of the ancient art of storytelling, performed by three of Puget Sound's best professional storytellers.

Programs will range from traditional to holiday themes.

December 10 — ERICA HELM MEAD, poet, author and storyteller. MICHAEL MEAD, musician and storyteller. ERICA will tell traditional myths and fairytales sure to enchant the young and old alike, while MICHAEL accompanies her with beautiful Irish music.

December 17 — MERIVA HECHT, poet, dramatist and storyteller, brings the power of the word alive with spellbinding recitations from the Bible, Gypsy stories, Eastern European and Yiddish folk tales and stories of the sea.

December 24 — CATHY SPAGNOLI, storyteller and educational media consultant combines the multiple art forms of music, song, sign, dance and puppetry in her spellbinding performances. She will include in this session special stories that capture the spirit of the holiday season!

CHILDREN (age 12 and under) $1.00 ADULTS $2.00

TACOMA WEST CINEMAS

Sterling Recreation Organization's new two-screen addition to the Tacoma West Cinemas will open December 16. Located at James Center approximately 300 feet from the original Tacoma West tri-plex, the satellite building has two auditoriums, one with 210 seats and the other with 310 seats. The addition complements the five-year-old Tacoma West Cinemas, which has two 400-seat auditoriums and one 200-seat auditorium.

"Although the addition will have its own box office and lobby with full facilities, we see the new Tacoma West complex as a five-plex, comparable to our new Tacoma South Cinemas, explained Robert Bond, SRO's Director of Northwest Theatre Operations.

He pointed out that the new facilities will more than double the number of SRO movie screens in the Tacoma Operations.

The new Tacoma West building shares the ample free parking available at James Center. The theatre addition is part of an expansion project there that includes several new shops and restaurants. Each Tacoma West building has readerboards visible from all parts of the parking area, so that the movie patron can see at a glance which movies are playing.

Kenneth D. Long and Associates of Seattle designed the Tacoma West Cinemas addition, and Rushforth Construction Co., Inc., of Tacoma was the contracator.

Pioneer Actresses Dies

Funeral services were held in New York on Friday for Osceola McCarthy Adams, 93, pioneer black actress and one of the 22 original founders of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., at the Church of the Intercession, 550 W. 155th Mrs. Adams died in her sleep at her New York residence last Sunday.

Delta leaders and former presidents of the nation's largest single black women's organization came to New York to participate in the sorority's moving Omega Omega Service held at the last rites. Mrs. Adams was cremated following the services.

"We have suffered a great loss, "declared Mrs. Hortense G. Canady, of Lansing, Michigan, Delta's national president. "Not only was Osceola McCarthy Adams one of our beloved founder but she paved the way for many of today's theatrical greats." After her acting career ended, Mrs. Adams taught many outstanding stars including Harry Belafonte.

"We are consoled by the fact that well before her death, we had created the Osceola Award, Delta's highest honor to distinguished black artists in tribute to her, "Mrs. Canady added. Recipients of the Osceola, a sculptured bust, include Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis, the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theatre, the Arthur Mitchell Dance Theatre of Harlem, and the Fisk Jubilee Singers.

"The Osceola is to us as the Oscar is to the motion picture world, or the Tony is to the legitimate stage, "Mrs. Canady stated.

Mrs. Canady said Jeanne Noble, of New York, former Delta president and former chair of Delta's Commission of Arts and Letters, along with members of the New York metropolitan alumni chapter had made all arrangements for Delta's participation in the services for Mrs. Adams.

Variety Club International

A gift of $100,000 from Variety Clubs International to honor Frank Sinatra has been made to Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center in Seattle, WA.

The announcement of the gift was made Nov. 23, 1983, by Mrs. Robert J. Habegger, president of the board of trustees at the hospital.

This $100,000 gift from Variety Clubs International is part of a $1 million pledge from Variety Club of the Pacific Northwest to help construct a first floor inpatient unit to be called the Sinatra/Variety Club Children's Unit in memory of Sinatra's parents and in honor of Variety Club. Chronically ill children or children who suffer from congenital heart defects, arthritis, leukemia, cystic fibrosis, and meningitis will be among the patients cared for onthe 20-bed unit.

"These funds will enable the hospital to open a new unit and add more beds to alleviate a shortage of space

PLU Features Christmas

The Festival of Lessons and Carols at Pacific Lutheran University Tuesday, Dec. 6, is a traditional holiday program featuring Christmas music and scripture.

The complimentary program, sponsored by the PLU Department of Music, will be held in Eastvold Auditorium at 8 p.m.

"Dancing Day," a cycle of favorite Chirstmas carols arranged by John Rutter, will be performed by the 17-member Concert Choir, under the direction of D. Patrick Michel.

Scripture lessons retelling the Chirstmas story, read by PLU University Minister Rev. Ron Tellefson, will be alternated with the carols.

Registration Open

Tacoma schools are a good place to be even if you're an adult. Registration is now open for winter adult education classes scheduled to begin Dec. 12 at Lincoln High School.

High school completion classes are scheduled as well as community service classes in basic reading, writing, and speaking of the English language, citizenship, and preparation for the GED (high school equivalency) test.

The registration fee for each class per semester is $15 for those who are not attending regular high school during the day.

Registration is being held weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. in the adult education office, Central Administration Building, (sixth floor), and evenings between 5:30 and 8 p.m. at Lincoln High School (701 South 37th) Dec. 5, 8, 12, and 15.

Soviet Impressions Of U.S.

Soviet impressions of the United States and an examination of the foreign policies of the two super powers will be the focus of a multi-media presentation and panel discussion December 7 by two members of the Seattle delegation who visted Tashkent in the U.S.S.R. last spring.

The Wednesday evening presentation carries an admission price of $2 for students and senior citizens and $3 for others. Proceeds from ticket sales will go to the Evergreen Foundation, which is presenting the program. Additional information is available through the Development Office, 866-6000, ext. 6565 weekdays.
